WELCOME TO GPA!

Welcome to Global Prodigy Academy (GPA), a private international college preparatory high school located on the campus of Jeonju University. The school was established in 2006 to support the educational needs of Korean and International families with the mission of preparing students to become global leaders. GPA is accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges.

Global Prodigy Academy has high expectations for its students in all academic areas, and it is my privilege to serve as the GPA principal. I strive to serve our students, staff, parents, Jeonju University and community in the development of a positive learning environment. Our teachers are globally-minded, possessing the credentials and experience to make them among the best in their fields.

Our partnership with Jeonju University and the surrounding community is an integral part of the success of GPA. Through the use of an all-English, American focused curriculum, GPA prepares students to continue their education at universities abroad. Approximately 85 percent of GPA graduates have selected to attend universities in over ten different countries. The majority of our students attend American universities.

This year GPA graduated 15 outstanding students with extremely competitive academic grade point averages. All of our graduates have applied for and been accepted to universities abroad. I am proud to say most of our students have received academic scholarships from their selected schools covering their full four years of education.

Hello everyone! I am your 11th grade representative Yelim Lee. Finally, we finished the spring semester of 2018! I am so glad that you guys doing well for the year. It was my first time in student council, I hope I contributed to a part of making your school life happier :-) This semester, student council worked hard to organize engaging and meaningful activities such as sports day, old school theme party, and design GPA hoodie. Thank you for give me this wonderful opportunities to work with other amazing students and teachers. It was my second last semester, so I hope we could make unforgettable memories together before graduate. Thank you and have a great summer vacation!

Sociology

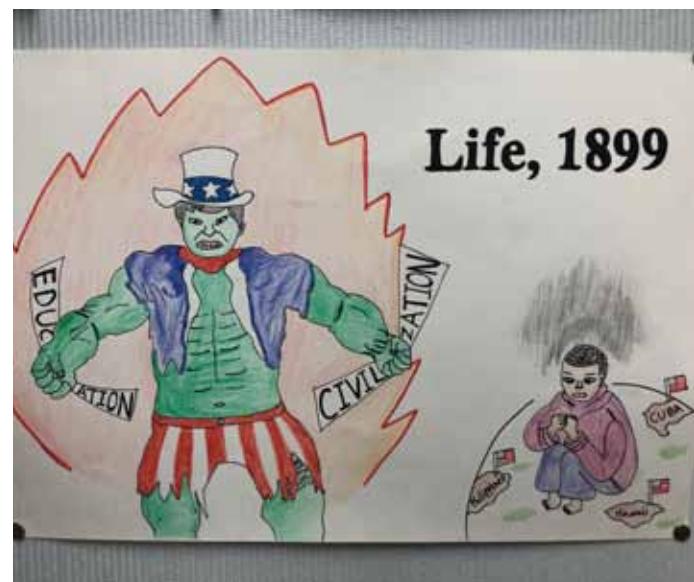

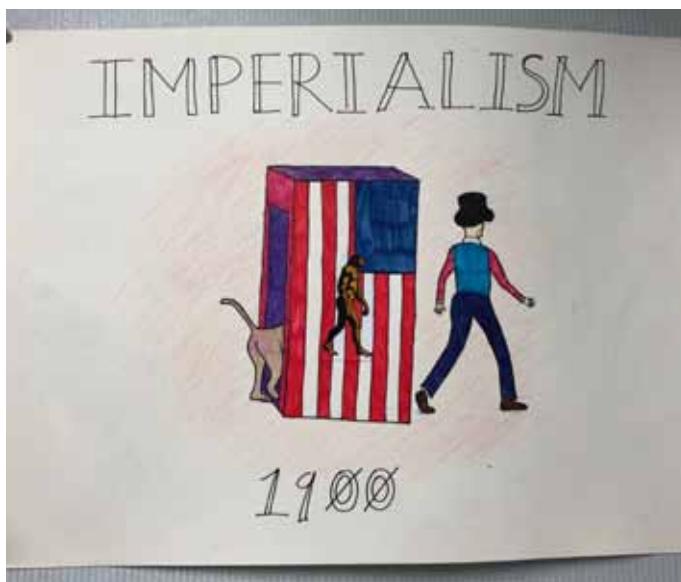

MR. VANCE

In Sociology, students were asked to design movie posters that depicted one of the major sociological perspectives (functionalism, conflict theory, or symbolic interactionism) and evaluate life at GPA through a sociological theory. Which of these “movies” would you like to see?

History

In U.S. History B, students mastered the term “imperialism”. They were asked to work as cartoonists for real magazines that were in circulation in the early 1900s. Some students drew political cartoons from a pro-imperialist perspective (in support of American imperialist policies), while others opted to take an anti-imperialist stance. Can you guess which cartoons depict these perspectives?

Classic Lit Projects

MS. WILLIAMS

The Classical Literature students created projects and put on a puppet show for the Epic of Gilgamesh.

In Tablets IV and V, Gilgamesh is troubled by dreams. In the first dream a mountain falls upon him. In the second dream a great bull head shakes the earth and breaks it open. And in the third dream there is lightning and thunder everywhere, and then the rain turns to fire. Enkidu, his companion, assures him that these dreams are fortunante.

Yearbook

MR. SNOWBERGER

This is the third year that “Yearbook” has been an official class at GPA. Before this, Yearbook was an After-school Activity and was led by one of GPA’s full-time teachers. This year, the students learned some of the basic principles of Graphic Design - particularly Layout and Composition, the basics of Adobe InDesign, Illustrator, and some Photoshop.

Each student was also responsible for writing a Yearbook article that is published in the Yearbook. Then, using the template from previous years, each student was responsible for designing 5-6 spreads for the Yearbook.

To make the Yearbook this year, we:

1. Gathered Inspiration
 - a. Looked at GPA’s previous Yearbooks
 - b. Gathered interesting cover designs
 - c. Discussed good pages & spreads
2. Learned Adobe tools by designing covers
 - a. Each student selected 10 unique cover designs to vote on
 - b. We voted for the best over 3 rounds
 - c. Created the winning designs in Photoshop, Illustrator, and InDesign to learn the tools
3. Gathered Materials
 - a. Wrote Yearbook articles
 - b. Gathered pictures from the office
 - c. Arranged student and group photos to be done over a few days during DEAR time
4. Designed our pages
 - a. Designed multiple cover options (next page)
 - b. Used templates Mr. Snowberger made from our wireframes to design our pages and add our own unique personal touches.

shares their favorite memories from the school year

2017-18 has been a terrific year! Our Student council members worked hard to make a more enjoyable school. I might have been an incompetent president (ps. sorry with the pizza incident) but I hope you had a satisfying year. Thank you for enthusiastically participating in our school events and thank you for making our school more vibrant and energetic. Also, I want to give special thanks to all the teachers. Thank you for trying your best to teach the students, have fun with the students, and do your best to make our school a better place! Have a nice summer break and see you next semester!

STUDENT COUNCIL PRESIDENT

HAEUN LEE

Hello! This is your brilliant vice president Chaerin. I really appreciate your participation in school events organized by student council. Some of the events were hard for us to proceed but I'm glad to see you guys enjoyed it. I hope every student got good memories from 2018 spring semester as I did. Thank you for your concern and support. And our lovely student council members! It was really lucky to work with you guys. Thank you for supporting me and president Amy. I hope every student gets to have a wonderful vacation!! See u all in August!

BOYS BASKETBALL

Jeonju's finest, the Golden Eagles, will take over the courts again this spring. We'll continue to work on the fundamentals of ballin' hard, pounding the paint, and jacking up ill-advised trey balls. This activity is mostly about teamwork, friendship building, respect, exercise, and having a grand ole time. If you ball hard enough, who knows, you might even grow a few centimeters. I'm pretty sure that you could use some fresh air too.

MR. VANCE

CROSS COUNTRY

Hello GPA students! Do you like running? Do you like to compete but don't like team sports? Well then, have I got the activity for you. Join the cross country team and start running. It's great exercise and an important survival skill. If society collapses and the animals (or zombies) inherit the earth, you will be glad you joined. Students who sign up must compete in a competitive cross country meet with other schools.

MS. WILLIAMS

FUTSAL

Futsal is a very fast paced game. Though it has smaller area to navigate than football, it focuses more on creative movement and players have to be more agile and aware of their surroundings on and off the ball. This sport will improve your stamina, and coordination skills. Each team are allowed 5 players, and can sub as often as they wish too. This activity will include warm-ups, drills, and of course, tournaments. Students should have trainers or astro boots (not cleats), shin pads, shorts or running trousers, and a t-shirt or/and sweater/hoodie.

DR. LANE & MR. MASON

TEACHER VS. STUDENT BASKETBALL

Last semester, we had a Teacher-Student basketball game that was fairly successful (in that the teachers dominated). The students have suggested that we have a rematch this Wednesday, November 15th. We would like to invite all teachers and administration to participate. So far, we only have four teachers willing to play. I understand that this game has the potential to disrupt your activities on Wednesday, but participation and attendance is entirely optional.

HALLOWEEN

Trick or Treat?

BY YELIM LEE

Every October 31, we hold Halloween parties at GPA. This is one of the biggest events and one of the students' favorite activities. This year's Halloween Party started when the Student Council started to plan it, buy some stuff, and decorate the school to make the Halloween mood. Mr. White also made a pumpkin lamp.

The Halloween Party started after 5th period, so students and teachers could prepare their costumes after the classes ended. This Year, we had a lot of incredible costumes such as zombie, vampire, Super mario brothers, Pokemon (Ash Ketchum & Pikachu), Sims, Harry Potter, and Annabelle from students! Teachers also came up with funny costumes such as gradebook wizard, flower woman, and traffic cone!

To enjoy the halloween party, student council prepared some activities. They showed a horror movie in the computer lab, and made a photo zone so students can take pictures freely. In the photo booth, student council prepared a polaroid camera, which students took photo with and we shared those photos to memorize this happy moment. Student council also prepared another horror activity called "Blind test". It was way more fun than I had expected. To participate in this game, I needed to cover my eyes before I entered the room. Someone hold my hand and when I reach the destination, I put my hands in the mystery box. I did not know what is in the box. There could be living creatures, or something unpredictable could come out. I had to guess those things only with the sense of touch. To make things more horrible, the member of student council moved things around, to fake them alive. It surprised me!!!

Before we finished the party, there was award ceremony for the best costumes of a year. Teachers picked 3 best costumes of students, and they were ranked into 1st place, 2nd place, and 3rd place. Then each of them were awarded with a winning price. Halloween party always makes me feel excited!

THE RISE OF THE IPHONE X

BY TAEHA JEONG

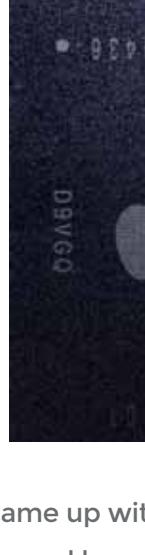

What would be the most memorable piece of 2017 Fall/Winter technology? It's undoubtedly the newest iPhone, the iPhone X. Apple has been using the same design for its phones ever since the iPhone 6, which was officially announced and released back in 2014. Ever since then, there has not been a great design difference for over four years.

However, signs of change showed up in early 2017. There were “rumors” floating around the Internet saying that Apple had designed a new iPhone in which the home button was gone and the bezel was minimized, while the actual available screen size was maximized. Lots of customers cheered because Apple had finally given up their traditional design from the iPhone 6 and had come up with a new design.

THE INFAMOUS “NOTCH”

However, the public's response was not the same when Apple announced their newest iPhones on September 12, 2017. Unlike predicted designs, the iPhone X (originally anticipated to be announced as the iPhone 8) had what is called a "notch," or black-and-curved area that covers the top part of the phone. This is also known as "M-shaped hair loss" in Korea. The notch was the core of a new technology - Face ID and Animoji - Apple had came up with, but the public was divided into two opinions about it with majority showing dislike against the notch. The notch design is easy to dislike, but it is still a very interesting technology that Apple came up with. So, is the new technology innovative and beneficial enough to attract customers despite their dislike against the notch itself? It's hard to say.

In order to tell whether it is worth it to buy an iPhone X, one needs to talk about the pros and cons of the new technologies that come with it. Apple came up with the slogan The Future is Here for the iPhone X; what does Future imply here?

THE FUTURE IS HERE

Apple advertised its newest phone with “Face ID” and “Animoji.” Animoji is basically a special kind of emoji that captures a user’s facial expressions with the camera and allows them to create animated emojis. Face ID replaces Touch ID for the iPhone X's security technology. Face ID makes a 3D map of the user's face through sensors built into its notch and uses the data collected for its security. This way one no longer needs to put their finger on home button to unlock the screen but only needs to look at the phone, Apple says. This is the "Future" Apple came up with.

But there are other improvements, too. The Apple A11 Bionic Chip, the newest CPU chip by Apple, was included, and an AMOLED display was used for the first time in the iPhone's history. Also Apple adapted a new medium for its back cover, tempered glass. By making their back cover with glass, wireless charging through Qi standard became available for all 2017 iPhones. These are all good changes, but are they really "good enough" to outweigh its cons and attract customers?

PROBLEMS ABOUND

It did not take long for the cons of the iPhone X to show up on the surface. The first negative to surface was the fragility of its glass back cover.

Apple says they used tempered glass for iPhone X back cover, but it is unbelievably fragile. It gets scratched very easily, and it breaks just as easily. In addition to that - because it is a high-resolution panel - it is very expensive to repair its back cover, costing about $360! Another negative about the iPhone X is that Face ID does not seem to be quite practical.

Lots of iPhone X users insist that they are uncomfortable of using Face ID because unlike Touch ID they have to lift up their phone and look at their phone. Also, there are cases in United States where people were able to bypass the security system using twins, similar faces, photos - or even a fake face!

In addition lots of people are dissatisfied with the notch design of the iPhone X. According to them, the notch design does not only disfigure the phone, but also disturbs the gaming experience and video streaming.

And when it comes to something other than the phone itself, there are also problems with the charger. Even though the iPhone X (and other 2017 iPhones) support the quick charging system, the proper charger for quick charge is not included in the original iPhone X set (the same goes for the iPhone 8 and 8+). In order for the customers to use the quick-charging service, they have to buy a new charger which costs about $85. It is extremely uncommon to see with a phone that costs $999 NOT including a quick charger.

Apple has came up with a great idea and new technology, but it does not seem to satisfy its customers. The flaws of the iPhone X seems to counterbalance its advantages. Overall, the iPhone X is a great phone, but it is not worth $999 plus an extra $85 dollars for the quick charger.

GAMES OF THE YEAR

BY TRESEOP AHN

PlayerUnknown's BattleGrounds is currently the number one game that is played in Internet cafés in Korea. The reason this game is in first place is because of the level of reality implemented in the game. The detailed gameplay is almost the same as real life. Also, the high quality graphics help players to feel more realism while playing the game.

League of Legends was the worldwide famous and popular game before BattleGrounds showed up. This game genre is MMORPG (Massive Multiplayer Online Role-Playing Game), in which players play in the third person view. The reason why LOL is so popular is because this game was the first high quality MMORPG game.

Overwatch was once the best game that rivaled League of Legends. This game was created by Blizzard. At first, it looked like it would be the best, but unfortunately, its popularity decreased when Battlegrounds appeared.

FIFA ONLINE 4 is not yet released, but even its beta version stands out among other strong rivals as the best soccer game of these days. FIFA ONLINE 4 will have better graphics and cinematics, and present a better sense of reality than FIFA ONLINE 3.

Hearthstone is an online card game presented by Blizzard. Playing cards online may look boring, but this game requires lots of luck and skill. And Blizzard is consistently making new cards, as the game made some cards disappear.

2018 CLOTHING TREND

BY MINJUN LEE

As streetwear clothing is becoming trendy in Korea, people enjoy wearing clothes from Carhartt, which is a brand that produces streetwear.

carhartt.
WORK IN PROGRESS

Carhartt is a U.S. based apparel company founded in 1889. Carhartt is known for its work clothes, such as jackwets, coats, overalls, coveralls, vests, shirts, jeans, dungarees and fire-resistant clothing.

Edwin and Salomee Feah, German designers who specialized in denim, discussed representing Carhartt in Europe when they visited the United States in 1989. They started by selling Carhartt's authentic workwear. After a few years they were granted a license to create their own lines of clothing under the name Carhartt Work In Progress (WIP). So WIP is the streetwear version of the Carhartt brand.

Carhartt WIP often collaborates with other streetwear brands. An example would be the line of Gosha Rubchinskiy's PACCBET X Carhartt WIP crewnecks and double kneepants. There have also been collaborations with Comme des Garcons, Vetements, Junya Watanabe, the Bathing Ape, and many others.

The WIP founders' strategy was to immerse themselves in subcultures that interested them and pursue marketing activities that existed in them. This included graffiti, fanzines, skateboarding, hip-hop, and a BMX cycle team.

Carhartt WIP has a number of stores in Europe, Asia, Australia and also in the USA. The pictures on the following page are some taken at a Carhartt store in London.

TOP 3 RESTAURANTS AROUND GPA

BY CHAERIN KIM

While I spent the last two years in Jeonju University, I found a few excellent restaurants around the campus. These restaurants are super cheap compared to the taste. So I will introduce some of it now.

1. 조선 뚝배기 (O-SEON DDUK-BE-GI)

Dduk-be-gi is the name of Korean traditional container especially for soups or stew. So this restaurant sell that kinds of foods as their name tell, such as braised spicy chicken (dak-bokkeum tang) and pork backbone stew (Gam-ja tang). “Tang” means soup in Korean and dak is chicken. Actually it looks terrible when I translate Korean foods into English but they have the best taste. Usually when we go to eat soup or stew, we order one menu to share. So most of restaurants sell foods for 2 to 3 people so they can eat together. However, they have menu for 1 person too. It is traditional food, so I recommend Dduk-be-gi to those who want to try real Korean food.

2. 흥이 닭갈비 / CHEUNG-EI DAK-GAL-BI

Dak-gal-bi is spicy stir-fried chicken. It originated from Gangwon-do where the Pyeongchang Olympics was held and I think it is the second best way to eat chicken after Korean fried chicken. Heung-ei dak-gal-bi is located at the old gate of the Jeonju University, so you can easily find this place. It is very famous so if you don't want to wait, you should go early at dinner time. The price is 6,500 won per person and if every one of you order dak-gal-bi, fried rice or normal rice is free. Every side dish is self-serviced, meaning you can use self-bar to refill the dishes. It looks spicy but actually it's not; even foreigners can easily try this. If you want to eat chicken in spicy way you should visit there and try dak-gal-bi. You would like it.

3. 허브롤까스 / HERB-ROLL KATSU

The last place I will introduce is herb-roll katsu. Donkatsu translates to pork cutlet in Korean. Actually this is my most favorite place because pork cutlet is my most favorite food. Like the chicken place, side dishes are self-serviced, so you can keep getting foods from self-bar. Herb roll katsu has bunch of various foods such as pasta, fried rice or risotto, but the main menu is tonkatsu. I would recommend sweet potato cheese roll katsu. Roll katsu is roll donkatsu, which means they are rolled pork cutlet. As I mentioned, translating Korean food to English is terrible but it is really good. Little sweet, little salty, and crunch. The restaurant serves lots of good foods with creamy sauce like cream pasta, cream risotto, etc.
